National Guard: Answering the call since 1636

The National Guard will observe its 380th birthday Dec. 13, 2016. On this date in 1636, the first militia regiments in North America were organized in Massachusetts. Based upon an order of the Massachusetts Bay Colony's General Court, the colony's militia was organized into three permanent regiments to better defend the colony. Today, the descendants of these first regiments – the 181st Infantry, the 182nd Infantry, the 101st Field Artillery, and the 101st Engineer Battalion of the Massachusetts Army National Guard – share the distinction of being the oldest units in the U.S. military. The birth of the National Guard's oldest organized units is symbolic of the founding of all the state, territory, and District of Columbia militias that collectively make up today's National Guard.

The Air National Guard

Following the National Security Act of 1947, National Guard Army Air Forces units transferred to the Air National Guard as a reserve component of the Air Force.

A Unique Element of the Total Force

- The Air National Guard is a unique element of the Total Force that serves both community and country or, both state and federal government.
- The Guard responds to domestic emergencies, overseas combat missions, counterdrug efforts, reconstruction missions and more.
- State governors or the President of the United States can call on the Guard in a moment's notice, however, Guard Soldiers' primary area of operation is their home state.
- Guard Soldiers hold civilian jobs or attend college while maintaining their military training part time.

December is National Impaired Driving Prevention Month

During the holidays, a season including an increase in travel and celebrations, remain vigilant and aware of drivers that are distracted or under the influence of drugs or alcohol. While enjoying the holiday spirit with family and friends, remember to:

- Always drive sober and alert
- Plan ahead by designating a non-drinking driver
- Stay in place if impaired
- Remind drivers to stay focused on the road and limit distractions
