PREVIOUS TITLE: AIS Security Records - records defining AIS security programs for a specific AIS facility and its objectives, providing each with the basic policy, guidelines, techniques, and procedures which can be used to implement secure, dependable AIS; trusted system documentation including the trusted facility manual (TFM), security features user guide (SFUG), etc.; and prescribes minimum requirements, standards, criteria and specifications for interfacing each AIS facility into a secure, responsive teleprocessing network; also any type of reports which relate to AIS audit compliance with security procedures

COLUMN D DISPOSITION:

Destroy when superseded, obsolete, or no longer needed.

NOTES

- 21 Electronic copies created using electronic mail and word processing: Destroy paper after recordkeeping copy has been created and filed or when no longer needed for revision, dissemination, or reference, whichever is later.

NOTES

- 21 Electronic systems that replace temporary hard copy records:
Destroy on expiration of the retention period previously approved for the corresponding hard copy records.
- 21 Electronic systems that supplement temporary hard copy records where the hard copy records are retained to meet recordkeeping requirements: Destroy when the agency determines that the electronic records are superseded, obsolete, or no longer needed for administrative, legal, audit, or other operational purposes.

COLUMN C WHICH ARE:

CMA archive records including system initialization records covering CMA accreditation (when necessary), certificate practice statement (CPS), and any contractual agreements to which the CMA is bound; system equipment configuration records; and CMA operational records such as modifications or updates, certificate requests and revocation requests, subscriber identity authentication documentation as required, documentation of receipt and acceptance of certificates (including DD Forms 2841 and 2842), documentation of receipt of tokens, all certificates and certificate revocation list (CRL) (or other revocation information) as issued or published, security audit records and data, other data or applications sufficient to verify archive contents and all work-related communications to or from the PMA, other CMAs, and compliance auditors

COLUMN D DISPOSITION:

Destroy after 7 years.

NOTES

- 26 The CA shall provide archived data and applications needed to read the archives to the DoD archival facility approved by the Policy Management Authority (PMA). This DoD facility shall retain the applications necessary to read this archived data for duration of the retention period.
- 29 Archives will not be modified or deleted by unauthorized CA equipment operators, but archived records may be moved to another medium.
- 32 If original media cannot retain the data for the required period, a mechanism to periodically transfer the archival data to new media shall be defined by the archive site.
- 53 No transfer of medium shall invalidate CMA applied signature.
- 62 The CMA shall maintain a list of persons authorized to modify or delete the archive and make this list available during CP compliance audits.
- 76 Release of sensitive archive information will be in accordance with guidance set forth in applicable policy.
- 87 Archive media shall be stored in a separate, safe, secure storage facility. Prior to archive, archive records shall be labeled with MDA's distinguished name, the date and the classification.

COLUMN C WHICH ARE:

CMA archive records including system initialization records covering CMA accreditation (when necessary), certificate practice statement (CPS), and any contractual agreements to which the CMA is bound; system equipment configuration records; and CMA operational records such as modifications or updates, certificate requests and revocation requests, subscriber identity authentication documentation as required, documentation of receipt and acceptance of certificates (including DD Forms 2841 and 2842), documentation of receipt of tokens, all certificates and certificate revocation list (CRL) (or other revocation information) as issued or published, security audit records and data, other data or applications sufficient to verify archive contents and all work-related communications to or from the PMA, other CMAs, and compliance auditors

COLUMN D DISPOSITION:

Destroy after 10 years.

NOTES

- 26 The CA shall provide archived data and applications needed to read the archives to the DoD archival facility approved by the Policy Management Authority (PMA). This DoD facility shall retain the applications necessary to read this archived data for duration of the retention period.
- 29 Archives will not be modified or deleted by unauthorized CA equipment operators, but archived records may be moved to another medium.
- 32 If original media cannot retain the data for the required period, a mechanism to periodically transfer the archival data to new media shall be defined by the archive site.
- 53 No transfer of medium shall invalidate CMA applied signature.
- 62 The CMA shall maintain a list of persons authorized to modify or delete the archive and make this list available during CP compliance audits.
- 76 Release of sensitive archive information will be in accordance with guidance set forth in applicable policy.
- 87 Archive media shall be stored in a separate, safe, secure storage facility. Prior to archive, archive records shall be labeled with MDA's distinguished name, the date and the classification.
- 21 Electronic copies created using electronic mail and word processing: Destroy paper after recordkeeping copy has been created and filed or when no longer needed for revision, dissemination, or reference, whichever is later.
- 21 Electronic systems that replace temporary hard copy records:
Destroy on expiration of the retention period previously approved for the corresponding hard copy records.
- 21 Electronic systems that supplement temporary hard copy records where the hard copy records are retained to meet recordkeeping requirements: Destroy when the agency determines that the electronic records are superseded, obsolete, or no longer needed for administrative, legal, audit, or other operational purposes.

TABLE & RULE: T 33 - 49 R 23.00

TITLE: Non-Record Emails--Do NOT Place on File Plan (Auth to Destroy Information Emails)

DATE MODIFIED: 21 / May / 2007

FROZEN RECORD: No

AUTHORITY: GRS 23, ITEM 07

CURRENT: Yes

DATE APPROVED:

COLUMN B CONSISTING OF:

emails which contain routine information, publications, and copies of replies which require no administrative action, no policy decision and no special compilation or reserach for reply. Originating office copies of letters of transmittal that do not add any information to that contained in the transmitted material, or receiving office copy filed separately from the transmitted material. This is NOT a record category and should not be placed on file plans, this rule provides the authority for each user to destroy these emails after reading, it is the reponsibility of the jsender, to file the email record.

COLUMN C WHICH ARE:

quasi-official notices including memoranda and other records that do not serve as the basis of offical actions, such as holiday notices, charity or fund appeals, bond campaigns, and similar records containing no substantive information and those containing information sent as routine notifications of meetings, scheduling work-related trips and visits, and other scheduling related activities; suspense and tickler files or 'to do' and task lists that serve as a reminder that an action is required on a given date or that a reply to action is expected and if not received should be traced on a given date.

COLUMN D DISPOSITION:

Destroy immediately after reading/reviewing. This rule allows implementation of the auto-delete of 'live' electronic mail systems and provides the authority for each action officer to destroy emails that are sent as information, mass mailings and other emails that require no action by the recieipient.

- 16 The Personnel Data System (PDS) is comprised of two basic parts: PDS-Military and PDS-Civilian. Various mechanized reports management products and card decks are produced, either on a one-time or recurring basis, as system output. The Base Level Personnel System (BLPS) is based on a central computer file of personnel data at base level, using standard programs to process data, produce output products, and suspense personnel actions. BLPS supports current PDS-Military and PDS-Civilian at MAJCOM and HQ USAF. Projects from PDS of such significance as to require specific retention periods are identified in this table and Table 36-9. Products relative to auxiliary systems which either support or are supported by the PDS, such as project transition, leave, and others having unique disposition criteria are identified in appropriate subject matter tables in the 36-series.
