

RESTORING READINESS

FY20 POSTURE

The Air Force is participating in engagements throughout the world in defense of our nation, and can only meet the demands with predictable budgets driven by the National Defense Strategy. In alignment with the NDS, this budget prioritizes long-term competition and delivers a more lethal and ready Air Force through smarter and faster acquisition practices and a laser focus on readiness improvements for Multi-Domain Operations. To counter the threats we face today, the Air Force must smartly modernize, continue to advance our readiness posture and implement smart reforms. The Air Force budget request of
