Housing Early Assistance Tool

The Air Force has implemented a web-based tool that will enable military members and their families to connect with installation housing offices to inquire about housing options at their upcoming duty station.

HEAT

Beginning April 2018, the new Housing Early Assistance Tool will allow members and dependents to request housing information for on-base government, community and privatized housing, where applicable. At bases with privatized housing, members can be connected with their local privatized housing management team upon their consent to release contact information right from HEAT.

Getting Started

HEAT can be accessed via a link on homes.mil and the Air Force Housing Public Website at <http://www.housing.af.mil>
